

The Wolf's Call

A lone wolf perched on a rugged cliff, its haunting howl resonating through the moonlit wilderness, evoking a primal connection to the untamed spirit of nature.

Supplies:

- watercolour paper
- paint brushes

Colours used:

Permenent White

Payne's Gray

Winsor Blue

Permenent Mauve

Watch the video and engage with it as you go. Feel free to pause at any moment to focus on a specific concept. The video starts with some basic tree paintings, and I recommend practicing these techniques before embarking on your final artwork.

WATCH THE VIDEO

If you're uncertain about how to draw the wolf, refer to the sketch on the following page. However, remember that practicing your drawing skills is key to improvement. Initially, your work may not meet your expectations, but over time, you will notice progress. Every artist is on a continuous journey of skill enhancement. It's like anything else - practice leads to growth, not perfection, but certainly to better results! :)

Step-by-step wolf drawing

